- Basic knowledge on HTML, PHP and MySQL

Difficulty

- Intermediate

Tutorial Contents

As a beginner when writing a web application that works with a database, we tend to create our database manually through the database frontend on your browser. This procedure could take time when trying to do this on separate machines.

This tutorial will teach you how to write a PHP script to automatically do this at the launch of your web application.

STEP 1: Create a registration form using HTML so that as the user clicks on register button from the webpage, everything happens immediately.
